A New School Year, A New Registration System

When we returned for the 78-79 school year most of us knew all registration and scheduling information would be handled by computer, but we wondered what it would be like. In homeroom the first day of school, students received their schedules that the computer had printed out. Students had a number for their classes, their homeroom, their teachers, even for themselves. Many students found mistakes on their schedules, but were told they had to stay in their present classes for the first week. Some students decided that they could not survive in certain classes and decided to change their schedule, with Dr. William Powell's approval. Many got their wish and were placed elsewhere but some were denied transferral and had to learn to tolerate the class. All in all, with the numbers and mistakes, computer registration and scheduling went well.

TOP: As they talked over their schedules, William Mays, Jeanne Wright, Daris Lewis, and Lara Taylor decided that things weren't so bad after all. CENTER: Seniors filed in to start making some of the many decisions which a senior must make. BOTTOM: Checking the computer print out sheets, adding omissions and inserting changes on student's schedules were Ms. Nancy Lewis, Ms. Linda Pearsan and Ms. Sharan Kenersan.

Questioning Faces

As students entered the building on September 5, their faces registered many expressions of intellectual curiosity. Even though students spent a few minutes greeting their friends, many of whom they had not seen since June, most prevalent in their minds were questions such as —

“Where is my homeroom?”

“Who are my teachers?”

“When can I change my schedule?”

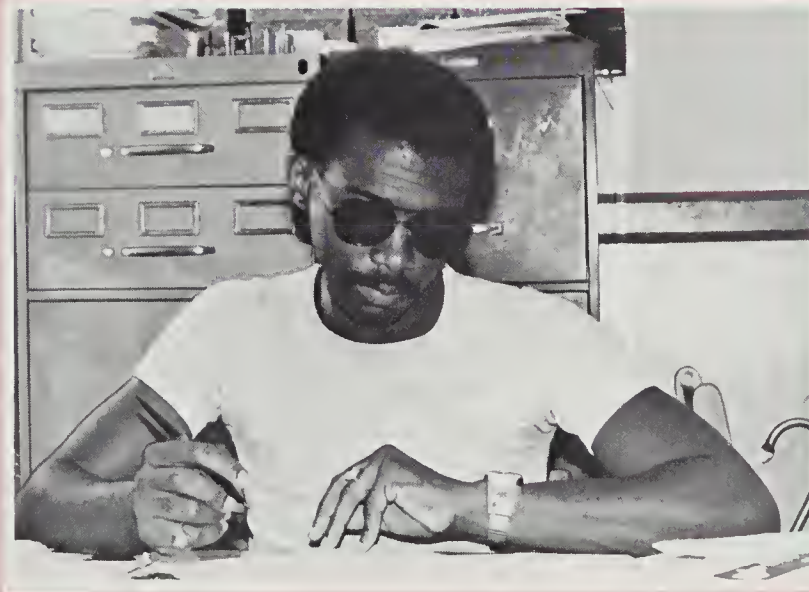

The guides selected from the cheering squad, girls' basketball team, and SCA helped to alleviate the problem of finding the assigned homerooms. Once in homeroom the state of inquiry diminished, for the many long awaited answers were finally at student's fingertips. Mixed emotions prevailed as teachers reminded students that the first three weeks of school would be only three days long. This was great news for some, especially those who would have missed school anyway in order to harvest tobacco, but for others the “harvest days” represented “time lost” which had to be “made up” later.

When students returned to BSHS for the 78-79 school year, they had to choose new class officers. The students running for election from each grade-level met one week before the election was held to draw up slates.

There were thirteen seniors interested in seeking office; however, they could only come up with two slates, causing three unlucky persons to be knocked out of the competition. As for the juniors and sophomores, they also had two slates running.

The officers were elected by their classmates in their grade-level. Homerooms also had to elect two representatives to report back to each homeroom what happened in each meeting.

Senior class officers were: President, Julie Oliver; Vice President, Anthony Pulley; Secretary, Sandra Hawkins; Treasurer, John Russell; and Reporter, Yvette Goldsberry.

The junior class officers are: President, Lawrence Majette; Vice President, Paula Thompson; Secretary, Karen Bruce; Treasurer, Dan Avent; and Reporter, Brenda Coleman.

Leading the sophomore class were: President, Sherry Goldsberry; Vice President, Mary Goldsberry; Secretary, Shirley Harrison; Treasurer, Francine Morgan; and Reporter, Sharon Graves.

Thomas Phillips, Delta Taylor, and Regina Phillips share the pleasant experiences of the first day in classes.

Filled with happy thoughts, the students boarded the buses on Thursday knowing that they would not have to return until Tuesday of the next week. Hurray for these "harvest days"!

Pre-Homecoming

It was a week of hustle and bustle to get ready for the homecoming celebration, but with the cooperative efforts of the administration, teachers, sponsors, and students everything shaped up on schedule.

Students displayed a fine exhibition of school spirit as they enthusiastically participated in spirit contests. Seniors won the penny race and also captured first place in poster competition.

Parade 1978

The homecoming parade was considered by many to be the best in the history of the school. This activity culminated many hours of preparation by the parade committee, the band, and the clubs that participated.

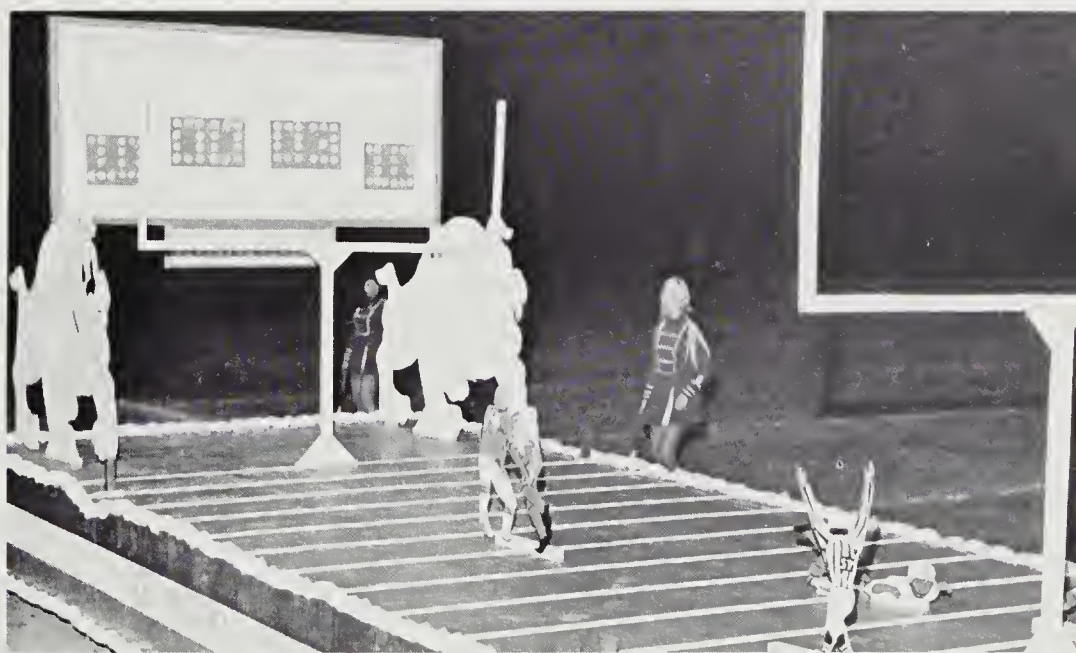

All students and their teachers were bused to downtown Lawrenceville for the exhibition which took place on Friday afternoon at two o'clock. It was enjoyed by all who attended.

CENTER: Keeping that rhythm, Ronald Barnes pounds his drums. ABOVE: The junior class float displaying "Raasting the Statesmen," won the first place in float competition.

The 1978 homecoming was one that always will be remembered. After all of the pre-homecoming activities were over, the homecoming excitement began to intensify. Everyone was wondering what the night would bring. The Bulldogs were definitely "fired up" and the feeling of victory was in the air. The crowd came alive when the Bulldogs scored first. At the end of the half the Bulldogs were off to an impressive 18-0 lead.

During the halftime festivities, the lovely homecoming court was presented to the crowd. Rosa Blackwell was named second runner-up and the new homecoming queen of Brunswick Senior High was Yvette Renee Goldsberry. The start of the second half brought the Bulldogs an instant score. The crowd continued to cheer the "Mighty Bulldogs" on to an extraordinary 40-30 victory.

Laughter, tears, hugs, and kisses are all scenes at a graduation, and the 1978 graduation was no different.

Due to a forecast of inclement weather, the graduation exercises were shortened; however, despite the threatening skies, luck and faith permitted Dr. William Powell and Mr. Grady Martin to present the graduates their long awaited diplomas.

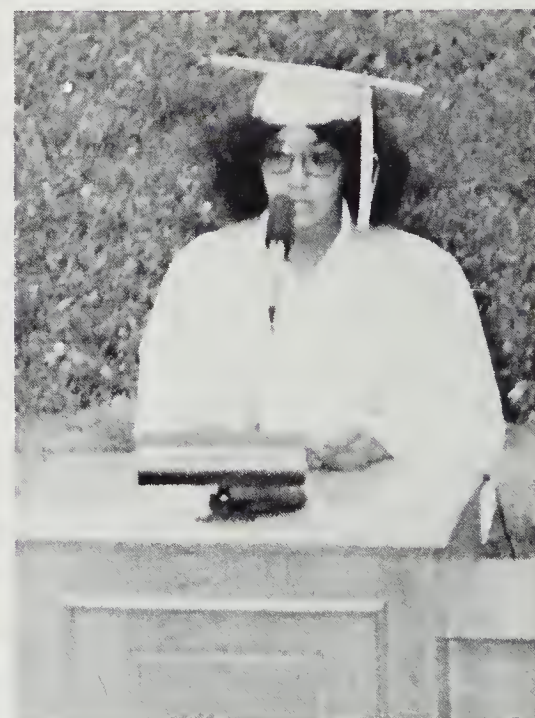

Charles Vaughan, who accomplished the incredible feat of maintaining a 4.0 average since third grade, was valedictorian. Karen Parker held the honor of salutatorian.

For many seniors, this night symbolized an end to being governed by bells. To others it marked a new beginning, and to a few it was just "another night."

"Life Is Growth"

Valedictorian, Charles Vaughan explains to the graduating class that the problems that face the world will create job opportunities for those who are prepared to accept them.

"Growth Is Life"

Karen Parker, salutatorian, tells the graduating class that they are now at the crossroads of a new beginning.

Dreams of Paradise

It was hard to believe that what was just a great, big open basketball court on May 1, could turn into a South Pacific Island on May 5, but it happened.

The tropical scene displayed the Junior's theme, "Dreams of Paradise" for the annual Junior-Senior Prom.

Rolls of bright green and yellow draped the entire top of the gym; as schools of tropical fish and bubble balloons gave the evening a touch of the Hawaiian Islands.

The Junior Class put in a lot of long hours and hard work, day and night, to give the Seniors a memorable prom, which was a success and a night that all who attended will remember.

Track Records Smashed

The 1978 track team had an outstanding season. Under the careful guidance of head coach, Dan Ward, and assistant coach, Dale Mims, the Bulldogs made people sit up and take notice. The previous season had the Bulldogs in last place after the district meet, while only qualifying four participants for the regional meet; however, the 1978 season proved to be different. The Bulldogs finished second in the district meet and qualified thirteen members of the team for the regional track meet at William and Mary in Williamsburg.

Various school records were broken during the season. Janet Powell ran the mile in 5:39.2 and the 880-yard run in 2:31.9; Greg Callis finished seventh in the 330-intermediate hurdles with a time of 41.5 seconds, and Thomas Peterson finished eighth in the two-mile run with a time of 11:06.0.

The boys' mile relay team, composed of Clifton Pearson, Ferald Clary, Harry Weaver, and Lester Pearson finished with a time of 3:34.0.

Representing the Bulldogs in the state meet was Janet Powell.

A selected group of young men had the opportunity to travel to Buena Vista, Virginia and participate in the Buena Vista Relays from an invitation of coach Ward's father. The sprint medley team of Lester Pearson, Clifton Pearson, Gary Callis and Harry Weaver captured first place and brought a trophy back to Brunswick. Gregory Callis earned a medal in the 300 intermediate hurdles.

Sophomore and junior members of the team ended the season with aspirations of smashing all records next year.

High scorers for the Brunswick All-Stars were Mike Coleman, David Wilson, Billy Short, Larry Edmonds and Rondell Thompson. Even though Phil Ford racked up 53 points in the game, our guys didn't look bad at all, for the game ended with a score of 139-133.

Bulldogs Lack Experience

Ricky Wheeler connects for a solid hit against Randolph-Henry.

The 1978 Bulldog baseball team had a 2-10 record in the Southside district, they were 3-11 overall for the season. Many of their losses were by slim margins and some even went into extra innings. Noting that the team had only one senior, inexperience caused many of the team's mistakes.

The team's individual stars included: Ronnie Walker who was the MVP, led the team in hits, runs, doubles, triples and batting with a .405 average; Marvin Mull who led the team in stolen bases.

Filled with optimism, the team eagerly awaits a new season.

Rannie Walker slides safely into third on his triple in the first game of a double header against Gaston.

Signs . . . Signs . . . Signs . . .

Through the cooperative efforts of the vocational/industrial arts students, teachers, and members of the SCA, plans were laid and construction began on the school sign. The mechanical drawing students had their first opportunity to design a structure and see the finished product in reality a few weeks later, which was built by carpentry, masonry, and wood-working students.

Three cheers to the SCA for supporting a worthwhile project.

During the orientation day for the sophomores of Brunswick Junior High School to visit Brunswick Senior High School, all of the sports offered at Brunswick Senior High School are displayed. These sports are football, girls basketball, junior varsity basketball, varsity basketball, baseball, softball, track, golf, tennis and cheerleading.

Coach Barbara Sykes' Lady Bulldogs ended their basketball season with an overall record of 5-11 in the district. Assisting Coach Barbara Sykes was Mr. Mike Pollard. The co-captains for the team were Deborah Harrison and Caren Brown, both seniors. The leading scorer was Bonnie Spence who totaled 128 points during the season.

Returning players for next year are: Bonnie Spence, Sheryl Edwards, Paula Thompson, Tracy Peace, and Remona Waller, all juniors. Cathy Stokes, Phyllis Callis, Angela Peace and Mary Chambliss are the returning sophomores.

1978 Football Recaps

The 1978 Bulldog season ended with 4 wins and 6 losses. Yet this overall average does not exactly measure up to the caliber of Bulldogs' performance. There were more teams added to the district this year, therefore the competition was made much tougher.

The Bulldogs opened with an impressive victory over Prince Edward. They then ran into a little difficulty against Nottoway and Bluestone. Later on in the season the Bulldogs suffered a few heartbreaking losses in which they actually outplayed the opposition yet they were denied victories.

Then the Bulldogs pulled out a spectacular last minute victory over Greenville. They continued their winning streak by upsetting Bird High.

As a whole the Bulldog defense was virtually devastating. Their defense was undoubtedly one of the best in the district. This defensive domination did not ease up during the final game of the season against Randolph Henry. The Bulldogs closed out with their best game. This final homecoming game ended with the Bulldogs on top 40-30.

Coach Freddie Reekes stated that he was extremely pleased with the overall season. He said that the team showed great determination to win even after losing heartbreaking games. Coach Freddie Reekes also stated that the 1978 team was one of the best in recent years. He also feels that those players leaving this year will definitely succeed if their determination in the world is anything like their determination on the field. As for those returning, Coach Freddie Reekes contemplates a brilliant 1979 season.

Cheerleaders Backed Players Rain or Shine

Whether football, basketball, or pep rallies our cheerleaders are always on the job. They begin practice in late August and continue through the basketball season. In order to become a successful cheerleader it takes preparation, practice and dedication. Even when the student body seem dead at pep rallies, the cheerleaders' hands, feet and voices can still be heard.

Annual Trip Develops Interest in Culture Club

During the year, club programs included various activities. Over 100 members planned and worked together to make each fund-raising project a success, in order to take the annual club's trip at the end of school.

Last year the club traveled to Atlanta, Georgia and Orlando, Florida. In Georgia students toured Underground Atlanta and visited Stone Mountain, Martin Luther King's grave, and Ebenezer Baptist Church. Stops in Florida included Disney World, Circus World, Cypress Gardens and Silver Springs.

Safety the Way to Live

The members of the safety club work for the safety and well-being of themselves and others. The members aid school officials and enforcement agencies in administering and controlling traffic problems related to drivers. One important project this year is the motor vehicle inspection of windshield stickers, license tags and Brunswick County stickers.

Motorists are pleased at the courtesy reminders placed on vehicles.

Curriculum Guides, a First

The administration and staff of Brunswick Senior High School provide a diversified curriculum which responds to the intellectual, social, moral, physical, and aesthetic needs of the student body.

This year, teachers are privileged to use the newly formulated Brunswick County curriculum guides. These guides include clearly stated performance objectives which help to measure each student's level of competence in performing certain tasks.

Born too Late

If we were more fortunate, we would have been juniors or seniors in '79, then we would not have been faced with the dilemma of taking and passing the first statewide minimum competency test as a second requirement for graduation from an accredited Virginia high school.

The thought of spending twelve long years in school, completing twenty-three Carnegie units, yet not receiving a diploma made us realize that we had to "shape up" or "ship out."

The shaping up process began with our seeking answers to thorny questions like:

"What are competencies?"

"How will they be measured?"

"When will they be measured?"

"What will be minimum?"

"What will happen to us if we fail the test?"

— Simulated Testing —

Realizing that the Board of Education would be concentrating on the attainment of minimum competencies in communicative skills, computational skills, citizenship, and post-secondary preparation, teachers and administrative personnel worked long hours preparing and administering simulated tests. These tests made the teachers and students cognizant of a need for remediation in various basic skill areas.

The Actual Test, Seventy . . . Enough

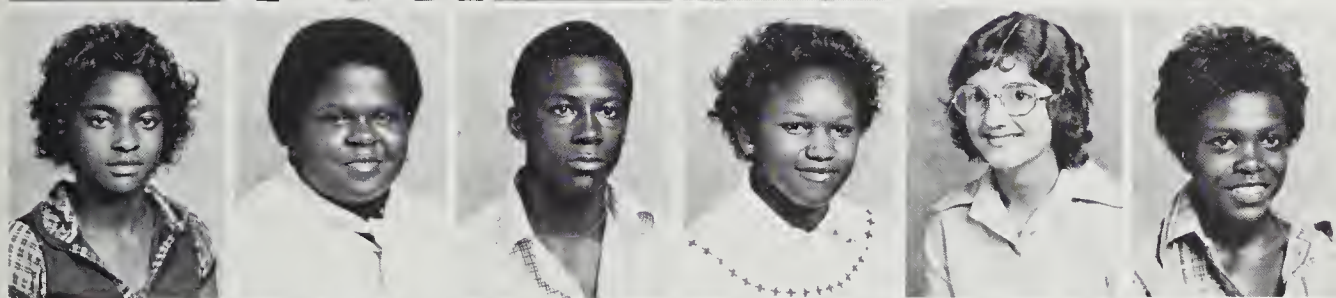

On October 1, 1978, sophomores occupied the east wing of the building and seriously tackled the State prescribed Minimum Competency Test. When asked about the difficulty of the test, a large number of students said that the actual test was "much easier" than the simulated English and Math tests which the teachers here had prepared.

Since the test seemed "so easy" to the sophomores, graduation from high school is right around the corner.

The Ringman

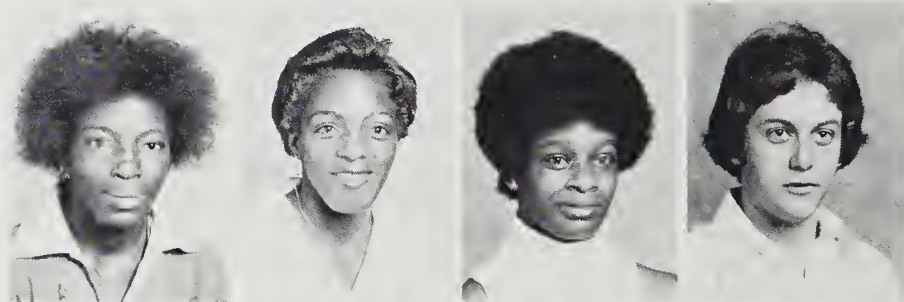

An unbroken tradition at most high schools and certainly at Brunswick Senior High School is the ordering of class rings. Days before the ringman's arrival, juniors and seniors were having anxiety attacks over ring forms and whether or not their rings should be gold or ultrium.

When the rings were finally ordered, there were attacks of even more anxiety. The attacks formed out of worry of fit, final cost, and appearance of the ring. After the rings arrived, for two weeks they were proudly displayed on a finger or around the neck of a sweetheart. After the two weeks, the ring faded into an ordinary piece of jewelry only to shine as the students become graduates and reflect upon their high school days.

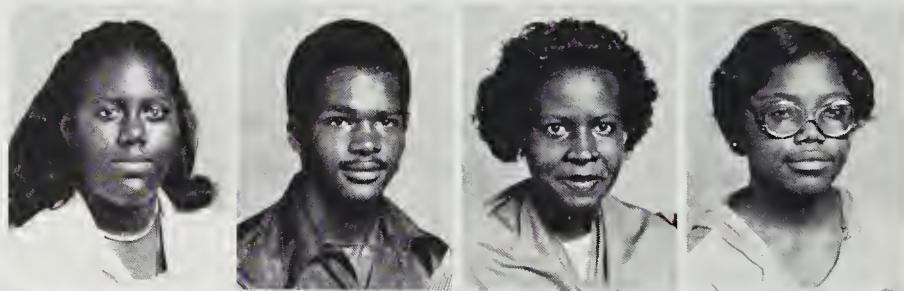

Lawrence Majette, Barbara Wilson, Jamie Taylor and Sheryl Edwards are busy comparing their class rings.

Juniors, Renewing Subscriptions, And Taking Orders

Again this year, the juniors went door to door trying to set a new record for magazine sales, win prizes for being highest sales, and provide finances for the junior-senior prom.

The homeroom raising the largest sum of money was that of Mrs. Elizabeth Long. Nine of her students reported sales of $859.00. The student reporting the largest amount was Jamie Taylor, who turned in $411.23. Other high salespersons were Laurie Barnes, Dan Avent, Beverly Harris and Chowanza Blackwell.

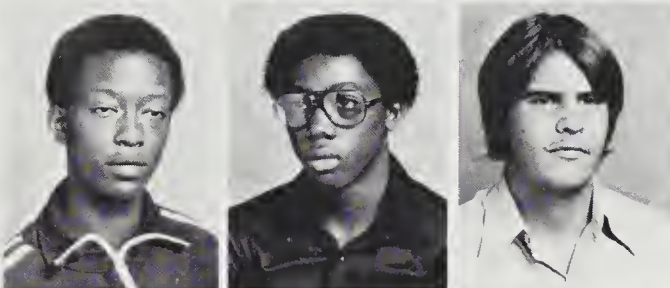

From this drive the juniors reported a profit of $1,065.00.

After fourteen days of driving, Vincent Thomas and Sherry Hicks are reviewing for the oral examination on the parts of the car in Driver Education.

First Place Winner

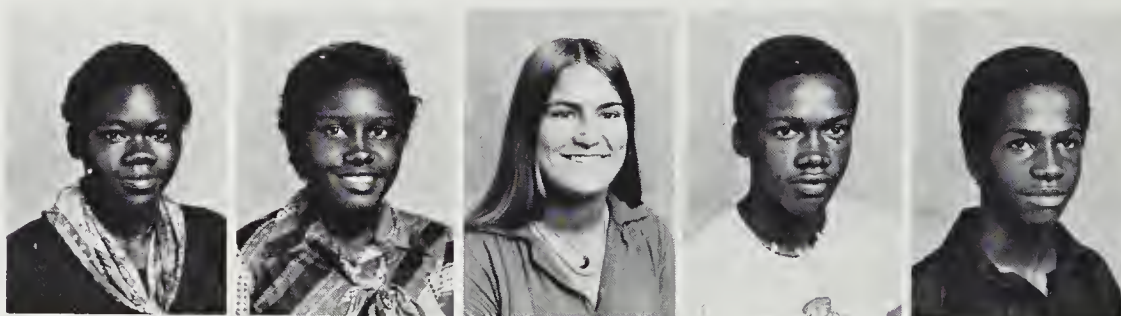

Dorryl Davis keeps score during the basketball game between the football players and the faculty.

"We Wanna Be a Winner" was indeed an appropriate theme for the junior class float which captured the first place rating in the homecoming parade competition.

The float featured the opposing mascot, a Statesman being grilled with the agony of defeat. Members of the junior class dressed up in football uniforms, and held knives and forks as they awaited a dish of victory. "A Statesman well done is a game well won" was the slogan.

BOTTOM: Greto Trotter and Sherry Hicks try to get in a little studying before their next class while John Stokes' mind wanders a million miles away.

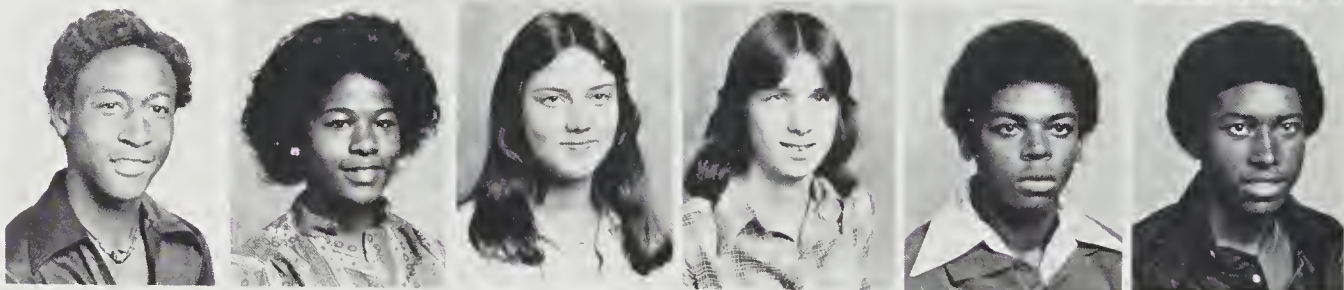

One of the pre-homecoming activities included "Blue and White Day." In this contest each class was an individual team. Everyone was to dress in the school colors and each person that had on blue and white was awarded one point. Two points were given to the class for each homeroom teacher that wore blue and white. The overall participation was excellent, yet the competition semifinalists were the seniors and juniors. The final tally was extremely close but the juniors edged out the seniors by a narrow 2 percent. Congratulations, juniors for a job well done!

'Me First!'

Cried the Arian.

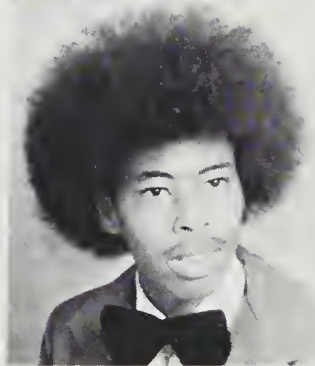

The typical Arian Face is clear-cut and forceful, with high forehead and cheekbones, strong chin and firm mouth. The eyes, which have a direct piercing gaze, reveal the Arians' pioneering and adventurous spirit. Challenge is important to Arians and it often spurs them toward positions of power. Although selfish and very quick-tempered, they can be great lovers when the spirit moves them.

You Need Not Try to Change Our Minds!

Starting with a healthy head of hair, everything about the Taurean is full and earthy. The eyes are staring and intense, the nose and jawline are fleshy, and the neck is thick. The Taureans possess no hint of weakness, in fact, they are always bullish when it comes to what they want. Stubbornness is their main characteristic. Even though Taureans make very possessive mates, they can be charming and very affectionate.

The Need for Dual Relationships

The smooth, oval shaped Geminian face is intellectual and vivacious. Geminians have a tendency to know very little about a vast number of things, yet they manipulate this little knowledge so skillfully that they seem well informed. They are flirts at heart and are known to need more than one relationship to keep themselves going. If they write you a love letter, keep it, for their expressions of love can always be treasured.

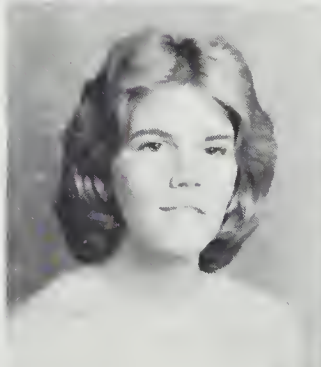

Geminians flair for talk suggests a bright career in the field of communications.

What Problems Do They Have?

On the round, fleshy faces of Cancerians are often found pronounced frown lines that indicate the fact that they are constant worriers. Cancerians possess good intuitive judgment based on a reliable memory. They are patient, understanding, and very persistent. Their love is long and lasting. The Cancerians' natural urge to protect and their excellent memories often steer them into medical or business careers.

Is Teaching Your Future Career?

The Leonine face, which is one of strength, is undoubtedly the face of a ruler. Persons under this sign are truthful, generous, broadminded and creative. They have magnetic personalities but are most ego tripping! They need to look up to and admire their mates, to whom they are extremely loyal and affectionate. Often the professional lives of Leos become so demanding that there is no time for hobbies or recreation. Leos make excellent "teachers."

Do They Have Any Pains?

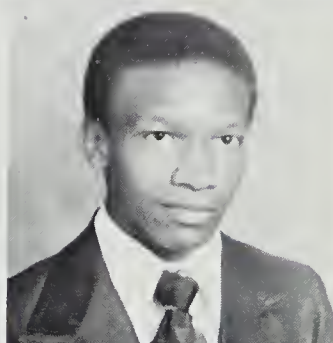

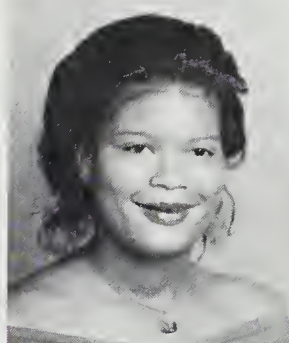

Wearing a face of distinction is the Virgoan. Persons under this sign are experts at handling details and are known as perfectionists. Virgoans are hard workers and are always willing to help their fellow man. As adults, they often become vegetarians, or at least take a firm interest in dieting. With Virgoans, hypochondria is not uncommon.

Each year the Virginia Department of Education assists the William Randolph Hearst Foundation and the United States Senate in sponsoring the United States Senate Youth Program. This program provides opportunities for outstanding high school students to broaden their knowledge and understanding of the political processes of American government.

In the selection of two high school students, Sandra Smith was among the finalist.

The Mediators, to the Rescue

The Libran face is one of distinction and poise. Librans are gentle, courteous, artistic, kind, and sympathetic. They always view problems from both sides. A difficult partner will find it all too easy to take advantage of their loving ways. Librans possess a flair for design, or at least for knowing what "looks good." Working in a partnership is more advantageous to the Libran than working alone.

Never Imprison Us!

Usually the face of the Sagittarian is rather sharp, aristocratic, and refined. Sagittarians will make perfect friends, for they are jovial, optimistic, and open-minded. In a relationship, they demand freedom or their affection is quickly stifled. Veterinary work is most appealing to them because animals make no demands.

'Cool and Calculated'

The deep frown lines on the Capricornian's face outline his formal nature. He is a self-contained person who focuses his attention on career interests and prestige. Though he may not be noticed in the beginning, he rarely fails to finish ahead. Making steady progress, Capricornians believe that the sky is the limit. Governmental careers attract them.

Don't Tread On Us?

The facial features of Aquarians lend an air of nobility. Persons born under this sign are usually very stubborn and rebellious in their outlooks. It is very difficult to feel very close to Aquarians because they prefer living alone and feeling free in all respects. They are capable of great inventions; however, their careers are frequently geared toward working to raise the living standards of remote people.

ACADEMICS

Mr. Cecil Walker instructs Michael Blond on how to administer mouth-to-mouth resuscitation in the advanced physical education class. Sondro Johnson and Kenneth Vaughn wait for Mrs. Gloria Graves to come and give them their driving lesson.

Deon Moretz and Lester Weaver are working hard to complete a typing assignment on time.

Getting Involved in Politics

On October 3, 1978, during a rally held at Brunswick Senior High School sponsored by the Brunswick County supporters for John Warner, students had the privilege to actively participate. Government students, who were already preparing class projects, assisted by passing out campaign bumper stickers, leaflets and buttons.

When election day arrived, those students contracting for an "A" had the opportunity to work at the county's voting precincts and witness democracy in action.

Our Purpose for Being Here

There have been no drastic changes in academics this year, however, there have been a few courses added such as Survey of Data Processing and Distributive Education I and II.

Some students mostly seniors get all their classes over in the morning, and leave after 4th bell while others struggle through classes all day and leave for work immediately after school. It's not unusual for a student who works part-time to stay up in the late hours of the night to complete homework assignments.

During a busy day in the office, Alice Morris can still find time to finish up her last minute homework.

Mr. Alfred Wright instructs Doris Powell on some work she has to do in geography.
Masonry students learn the proper procedure for constructing a brick wall.

Extra Money Comes in Handy

As a person goes through high school, the need for extra money becomes more and more necessary, the students here are no exception. Many students work to get the extra money needed for paying dues, buying school supplies, buying class rings, and paying for special tests. Some students even manage to increase their savings accounts for future life.

Early Dismissal Pays Off

Most of the students who have early dismissals this year have jobs. After leaving school, these students report to their jobs and work until the businesses close.

While at work these students assist customers, work at cash registers, stock shelves, and perform other jobs which fulltime employees normally do.

This on-the-job training will prove beneficial when the time comes to seek full time employment.

Students Enjoy Their Jobs

Whenever a person walks into a store in the county he can usually pick out employees who attend Brunswick Senior High School. They are the ones with the bright, smiling faces. The students are not only pleased that they are making their own money, but they also enjoy helping people and making new friends.

Greeting her customers with a pleasing smile, Ann Moseley weighs peanuts for a customer at Rose's Store.

James Taylor, who also works in Rose's Store, waits for a customer.

Gary Peebles bags food at Star Value Supermarket.

The fifth period data processing class leaves after completing the annual's index.

In Memory of

William Hendricks Brown
September, 1958—June, 1977

Sylvester Orlando Reed
December, 1960—March, 1976

Remember me when I am gone away,
Gone far away into the silent land;
When you can no more hold me by the hand,
Nor I half turn to go, yet turning stay.
Remember me when no more, day by day,
You tell me of our future that you planned:
Only remember me; you understand
It will be late to counsel then to pray.
Yet if you should forget me for a while
And afterwards remember, do not grieve:
For if the darkness and corruption leave
A vestige of the thoughts that once I had,
Better by far you should forget and smile
Than that you should remember and be sad.

Christina Georgina Rossetti

Confronting Omega

TOP LEFT: Jeffrey Hicks looks on as Ms. Ellen McGeachy explains where the art work should be sketched on the layout.

TOP RIGHT: Pink Wimbish and Abbe Poythress browse through previous yearbooks discussing changes that could be made in the 1979 edition.

CENTER: Ms. Barbara Evans and several of the yearbook staff members are busy editing the first 32 pages of the yearbook.

BOTTOM: Sandra Smith, Joel Bruce, Pink Wimbish, and Irving Robinson are writing and discussing headlines and captions for the sports section in the yearbook.

The staff of THE BRUNSWICK would like to thank all the persons who cooperated in any way with us in producing this annual. The staff has worked hard to make this 1979 edition the best ever under the supervision of Ms. Ellen McGeachy. We sincerely hope that all our readers will enjoy this annual as much as we have enjoyed putting it together. We would like to wish all the seniors much success and happiness in the future.
